Workshop Objectives

By the end of this workshop, you should be able to:

• Understand the role of the business plan.

• List several reasons for developing a business plan.

• Identify sources where you can get help in developing a business plan.

• Identify the type of information to include in the business plan.

• Prepare an outline for a business plan.
BUSINESS PLAN OUTLINE

Below is an outline for a business plan. Use this model as a guide when developing the business plan for your business.

Elements of a Business Plan

1. Cover sheet
2. Statement of purpose
3. Table of contents

I. The Business
   A. Description of business
   A. Marketing
   B. Competition
   C. Operating procedures
   D. Personnel
   E. Business insurance
   G. Financial data

II. Financial Data
   A. Loan applications
   B. Capital equipment and supply list
   C. Balance sheet
   D. Breakeven analysis
   E. Pro-Forma income projections (profit & loss statements)
      - Three-year summary
      - Detail by month first year
      - Detail by quarters, second and third years
      - Assumptions upon which projections were based
   F. Pro-forma cash flow
      - Follow guidelines for letter E.

III. Supporting Documents
    - Tax returns of principals for last three years
    - Personal financial statement (all banks have these forms)
    - In the case of a franchised business, a copy of franchise contract and all supporting documents provided by the franchisor
    - Copy of proposed lease of purchase agreement for building space
    - Copy of licenses and other legal documents
    - Copy of resumes of all principals
THE BUSINESS PLAN - WHAT IT INCLUDES

What goes in a business plan? This is an excellent question to ask. And, one that many new and potential small business owners should ask, but oftentimes don't ask. The body of the business plan can be divided into four distinct sections: 1) the description of the business, 2) the marketing plan, 3) the financial management plan and 4) the management plan. Addenda to the business plan should include the executive summary, supporting documents and financial projections.

Description of the business

In this section, provide a detailed description of your business. An excellent question to ask yourself is: "What business am I in?" In answering this question include your products, market and services as well as a thorough description of what makes your business unique. Remember, however, that as you develop your business plan, you may have to modify or revise your initial questions.

The business description section is divided into three primary sections. Section 1 actually describes your business, Section 2 the product or service you will be offering and Section 3 the location of your business, and why this location is desirable (some franchisors assist in site selection).

1. Business Description

When describing your business, generally you should explain:

1. Legalities - business form: proprietorship, partnership, corporation. What licenses or permits you will need.
2. Business type: merchandizing, manufacturing or service.
3. What your product or service is.
4. Is it a new independent business, a takeover, an expansion, a franchise?
5. Why your business will be profitable. What are the growth opportunities? How will franchising impact on growth opportunities?
6. When your business will be open (days, hours)?
7. What you have learned about your kind of business from outside sources (trade suppliers, bankers, other franchise owners, franchisor, publications).

A cover sheet goes before the description. It includes the name, address and telephone number of the business and the names of all principals. In the description of your business, describe the unique aspects and how or why they will appeal to consumers. Emphasize any special features that you feel will appeal to customers and explain how and why these features are appealing.

The description of your business should clearly identify goals and objectives and it should clarify why you are, or why you want to be, in business.

2. Product/Service

Try to describe the benefits of your goods and services from your customers' perspective. Successful business owners know or at least have an idea of what their customers want or expect from them. This type of anticipation can be helpful in building customer satisfaction and loyalty. And, it certainly is a good strategy for beating the competition or retaining your competitiveness. Describe:

1. What you are selling.
2. How your product or service will benefit the customer.
3. Which products/services are in demand; if there will be a steady flow of cash.
4. What is different about the product or service your business is offering.

3. The Location

The location of your business can play a decisive role in its success or failure. Your location should be built around your customers, it should be accessible and it should provide a sense of security. Consider these questions when addressing this section of your business plan:

1. What are your location needs?
2. What kind of space will you need?
3. Why is the area desirable? the building desirable?
5. Are market shifts or demographic shifts occurring?

It may be a good idea to make a checklist of questions you identify when developing your business plan. Categorize your questions and, as you answer each question, remove it from your list.

The Marketing Plan

Marketing plays a vital role in successful business ventures. How well you market your business, along with a few other considerations, will ultimately determine your degree of success or failure. The key element of a successful marketing plan is to know your customers -- their likes, dislikes, expectations. By identifying these factors, you can develop a marketing strategy that will allow you to arouse and fulfill their needs.

Identify your customers by their age, sex, income/educational level and residence. At first, target only those customers who are more likely to purchase your product or service. As your customer base expands, you may need to consider modifying the marketing plan to include other customers.

Develop a marketing plan for your business by answering these questions. (Potential franchise owners will have to use the marketing strategy the franchisor has developed.) Your marketing plan should be included in your business plan and contain answers to the questions outlined below.

1. Who are your customers? Define your target market(s).
2. Are your markets growing? steady? declining?
3. Is your market share growing? steady? declining?
4. If a franchise, how is your market segmented?
5. Are your markets large enough to expand?
6. How will you attract, hold, increase your market share? If a franchise, will the franchisor provide assistance in this area? Based on the franchisor's strategy, how will you promote your sales?
7. What pricing strategy have you devised?

Appendix I contains a sample Marketing Plan and Marketing Tips, Tricks and Traps, a condensed guide on how to market your product or service. Study these documents carefully when developing the marketing portion of your business plan.

1. Competition

Competition is a way of life. We compete for jobs, promotions, scholarships to institutes of higher learning, in sports -- and in almost every aspect of your lives. Nations compete for the consumer in the global marketplace as do individual business owners. Advances in technology can send the profit margins of a successful business into a tailspin causing them to plummet overnight or within a few hours. When considering these and other factors, we can conclude that business is a highly competitive, volatile arena. Because of this volatility and competitiveness, it is important to know your competitors.

Questions like these can help you:

1. Who are your five nearest direct competitors?
2. Who are your indirect competitors?
3. How are their businesses: steady? increasing? decreasing?
4. What have you learned from their operations? from their advertising?
5. What are their strengths and weaknesses?
6. How does their product or service differ from yours?

Start a file on each of your competitors. Keep manila envelopes of their advertising and promotional materials and their pricing strategy techniques. Review these files periodically, determining when and how often they advertise, sponsor promotions and offer sales. Study the copy used in the advertising and promotional materials, and their sales strategy. For example, is their copy short? descriptive? catchy? or how much do they reduce prices for sales? Using this technique can help you to understand your competitors better and how they operate their businesses.

2. Pricing and Sales

Your pricing strategy is another marketing technique you can use to improve your overall competitiveness. Get a feel for the pricing strategy your competitors are using. That way you can determine if your prices are in line with competitors in your market area and if they are in line with industry averages.

Some of the pricing strategies are:

- retail cost and pricing
- competitive position
- pricing below competition
- pricing above competition
- price lining
- multiple pricing
- service costs and pricing (for service businesses only)
  - service components
  - material costs
  - labor costs
  - overhead costs

The key to success is to have a well-planned strategy, to establish your policies and to constantly monitor prices and operating costs to ensure profits. Even in a franchise where the franchisor provides operational procedures and materials, it is a good policy to keep abreast of the changes in the marketplace because these changes can affect your competitiveness and profit margins.

Appendix 1 contains a sample Price/Quality Matrix, review it for ideas on pricing strategies for your competitors. Determine which of the strategies they use, if it is effective and why it is effective.
3. Advertising and Public Relations

How you advertise and promote your goods and services may make or break your business. Having a good product or service and not advertising and promoting it is like not having a business at all. Many business owners operate under the mistaken concept that the business will promote itself, and channel money that should be used for advertising and promotions to other areas of the business. Advertising and promotions, however, are the life line of a business and should be treated as such.

Devise a plan that uses advertising and networking as a means to promote your business. Develop short, descriptive copy (text material) that clearly identifies your goods or services, its location and price. Use catchy phrases to arouse the interest of your readers, listeners or viewers. In the case of a franchise, the franchisor will provide advertising and promotional materials as part of the franchise package, you may need approval to use any materials that you and your staff develop. Whether or not this is the case, as a courtesy, allow the franchisor the opportunity to review, comment on and, if required, approve these materials before using them. Make sure the advertisements you create are consistent with the image the franchisor is trying to project. Remember the more care and attention you devote to your marketing program, the more successful your business will be.

A more detailed explanation of the marketing plan and how to develop an effective marketing program is provided in the Workshop on Marketing. See Training Module 3 - Marketing Your Business for Success.

The Management Plan

Managing a business requires more than just the desire to be your own boss. It demands dedication, persistence, the ability to make decisions and the ability to manage both employees and finances. Your management plan, along with your marketing and financial management plans, sets the foundation for and facilitates the success of your business.

Like plants and equipment, people are resources -- they are the most valuable asset a business has. You will soon discover that employees and staff will play an important role in the total operation of your business. Consequently, it's imperative that you know what skills you possess and those you lack since you will have to hire personnel to supply the skills that you lack. Additionally, it is imperative that you know how to manage and treat your employees. Make them a part of the team. Keep them informed of, and get their feedback regarding, changes. Employees oftentimes have excellent ideas that can lead to new market areas, innovations to existing products or services or new product lines or services which can improve your overall competitiveness.

Your management plan should answer questions such as:
• How does your background/business experience help you in this business?
• What are your weaknesses and how can you compensate for them?
• Who will be on the management team?
• What are their strengths/weaknesses?
• What are their duties?
• Are these duties clearly defined?
• If a franchise, what type of assistance can you expect from the franchisor?
• Will this assistance be ongoing?
• What are your current personnel needs?
• What are your plans for hiring and training personnel?
• What salaries, benefits, vacations, holidays will you offer? Are these issues covered in the management package the franchisor will provide?
• What benefits, if any, can you afford at this point?

If a franchise, the operating procedures, manuals and materials devised by the franchisor should be included in this section of the business plan. Study these documents carefully when writing your business plan, and be sure to incorporate this material. The franchisor should assist you with managing your franchise. Take advantage of their expertise and develop a management plan that will ensure the success for your franchise and satisfy the needs and expectations of employees, as well as the franchisor.

The Financial Management Plan

Sound financial management is one of the best ways for your business to remain profitable and solvent. How well you manage the finances of your business is the cornerstone of every successful business venture. Each year thousands of potentially successful businesses fail because of poor financial management. As a business owner, you will need to identify and implement policies that will lead to and ensure that you will meet your financial obligations.

To effectively manage your finances, plan a sound, realistic budget by determining the actual amount of money needed to open your business (start-up costs) and the amount needed to keep it open (operating costs). The first step to building a sound financial plan is to devise a start-up budget. Your start-up budget will usually include such one-time-only costs as major equipment, utility deposits, down payments, etc.

The start-up budget should allow for these expenses.

U.S. SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
An operating budget is prepared when you are actually ready to open for business. The operating budget will reflect your priorities in terms of how you spend your money, the expenses you will incur and how you will meet those expenses (income). Your operating budget also should include money to cover the first three to six months of operation. It should allow for the following expenses.

Operating Budget

- personnel
- rent
- loan payments
- legal/accounting
- supplies
- salaries/wages
- dues/subscriptions/fees
- repairs/maintenance
- insurance
- depreciation
- advertising/promotions
- miscellaneous expenses
- payroll expenses
- utilities
- taxes

The financial section of your business plan should include any loan applications you've filed, a capital equipment and supply list, balance sheet, breakeven analysis, pro-forma income projections (profit and loss statement) and pro-forma cash flow. The income statement and cash flow projections should include a three-year summary, detail by month for the first year, and detail by quarter for the second and third years.

The accounting system and the inventory control system that you will be using is generally addressed in this section of the business plan also. If a franchise, the franchisor may stipulate in the franchise contract the type of accounting and inventory systems you may use. If this is the case, he or she should have a system already intact and you will be required to adopt this system. Whether you develop the accounting and inventory systems yourself, have an outside financial advisor develop the systems or the franchisor provides these systems, you will need to acquire a thorough understanding of each and how it operates. Your financial advisor can assist you in developing this section of your business plan.

The following questions should help you determine the amount of start-up capital you will need to purchase and open your franchise.

- How much money do you have?
- How much money will you need to purchase the franchise?
- How much money will you need for start-up?
• How much money will you need to stay in business?

Other questions that you will need to consider are:

• What type of accounting system will your use? Is it a single entry or dual entry system?
• What will your sales goals and profit goals for the coming year be? Will the franchisor set your sales and profit goals? Or, will he or she expect you to reach and retain a certain sales level and profit margin?
• What financial projections will you need to include in your business plan?
• What kind of inventory control system will you use?

Your plan should include an explanation of all projections. Unless you are thoroughly familiar with financial statements, get help in preparing your cash flow and income statements and your balance sheet. Your aim is not to become a financial wizard, but to understand the financial tools well enough to gain their benefits. Your accountant or financial advisor can help you accomplish this goal.

Sample balance sheets, income projections (profit and loss statements) and cash flow statements are included in Appendix 2, Financial Management. For a detailed explanation of these and other more complex financial concepts, contact your local SBA Office. Look under the U.S. Government section of the local telephone directory.
During this activity you will:

• Briefly describe what goes into a business plan.

• Identify advantages of developing the marketing, management and financial management plans.

• List financial projections included in the financial management plan.

• Sketch an outline for a business plan.

3. Sales Strategy

Notes and Strategies for Your Franchise

- Use Customer-Oriented Selling Approach - By Constructing Agreement
  - Phase one: Establish Rapport with Customer - by agreeing to discuss what the customer wants to achieve.
  - Phase two: Determine Customer Objective and Situational Factors - by agreeing on what the customer wants to achieve and those factors in the environment that will influence these results.
  - Phase Three: Recommend a Customer Action Plan - by agreeing that using your product/service will indeed achieve what customer wants.
  - Phase Four: Obtaining Customer Commitment - By agreeing that the customer will acquire your product/service.

- Emphasize Customer Advantage
  - Must be Read: When a competitive advantage can not be demonstrated, it will not translate into a benefit.
  - Must be Important to the Customer: When the perception of competitive advantage varies between supplier and customer, the customer wins.
  - Must be Specific: When a competitive advantage lacks specificity, it translates into mere puffery and is ignored.
  - Must be Promotable: When a competitive advantage is proven, it is essential that your customer know it, lest it not exist at all.

4. Benefits vs. Features

- The six "O's" of organizing Customer Buying Behavior

  | ORIGINS of purchase: | Who buys it? |
  | OBJECTIVES of purchase: | What do they need/buy? |
  | OCCASIONS of purchase: | When do they buy it? |
  | OUTLETS of purchase: | Where do they buy it? |
  | OBJECTIVES of purchase: | Why do they buy it? |
  | OPERATIONS of purchase: | How do they buy it? |

- Convert features to benefits using the "...Which Means..." Transition

- Sales Maxim: "Unless the proposition appeals to their INTEREST, unless it satisfies their DESIRES, and unless it shows them a GAIN--then they will not buy!"

- Quality Customer Leads: Level of need Ability to pay
  Authority to pay Accessibility
  Sympathetic attitude Business history
  One-source buyer Reputation (price

INSTRUCTIONS FOR INCOME PROJECTIONS STATEMENT

The income projections (profit and loss) statement is valuable as both a planning tool and a key management tool to help control business operations. It enables the owner/manager to develop a preview of the amount of income generated each month and for the business year, based on reasonable predictions of monthly levels of sales, costs and expenses.

As monthly projections are developed and entered into the income projections statement, they can serve as definite goals for controlling the business operation. As actual operating results become known each month, they should be recorded for comparison with the monthly projections. A completed income statement allows the owner/manager to...
to compare actual figures with monthly projections and to take steps to correct any problems.

Industry Percentage

In the industry percentage column, enter the percentages of total sales (revenues) that are standard for your industry, which are derived by dividing

\text{Costs/expenses items} \times 100\% \\
\text{total net sales}

These percentages can be obtained from various sources, such as trade associations, accountants or banks. The reference librarian in your nearest public library can refer you to documents that contain the percentage figures, for example, Robert Morris Associates' Annual Statement Studies (One Liberty Place, Philadelphia, PA 19103).

Industry figures serve as a useful benchmark against which to compare cost and expense estimates that you develop for your firm. Compare the figures in the industry percentage column to those in the annual percentage column.

Total Net Sales (Revenues)

Determine the total number of units of products or services you realistically expect to sell each month in each department at the prices you expect to get. Use this step to create the projections to review your pricing practices.

- What returns, allowances and markdowns can be expected?
- Exclude any revenue that is not strictly related to the business.

Costs of Sales

The key to calculating your cost of sales is that you do not overlook any costs that you have incurred. Calculate cost of sales of all products and services used to determine total net sales. Where inventory is involved, do not overlook transportation costs. Also include any direct labor.

Gross Profit

Subtract the total cost of sales from the total net sales to obtain gross profit.

Gross Profit Margin

The gross profit is expressed as a percentage of total sales (revenues). It is calculated by dividing

\text{gross profits} \\
\text{total net sales}

- Subtract total expenses from gross profit.

Controllable Expenses

- Salary expenses -- Base pay plus overtime.
- Payroll expenses -- Include paid vacations, sick leave, health insurance, unemployment insurance and social security taxes.
- Outside services -- Include costs of subcontracts, overflow work and special or one-time services.
- Supplies -- Services and items purchased for use in the business.
- Repair and maintenance -- Regular maintenance and repair, including periodic large expenditures such as painting.
- Advertising -- Include desired sales volume and classified directory advertising expenses.
- Car delivery and travel -- Include charges if personal car is used in business, including parking, tools, buying trips, etc.
- Accounting and legal -- Outside professional services.

Fixed Expenses

- Rent -- List only real estate used in business.
- Depreciation -- Amortization of capital assets.
- Utilities -- Water, heat, light, etc.
- Insurance -- Fire or liability on property or products. Include workers' compensation.
- Loan repayments -- Interest on outstanding loans.
- Miscellaneous -- Unspecified; small expenditures without separate accounts.

Taxes

- Include inventory and sales tax, excise tax, real estate tax, etc.

Net Profit (loss)

- Subtract taxes from net profit (before taxes)
Annual Total - For each of the sales and expense items in your income projection statement, add all the monthly figures across the table and put the result in the annual total column.

Annual Percentage - Calculate the annual percentage by dividing

\text{Annual total} \times 100\% \\
\text{total net sales}

- Compare this figure to the industry percentage in the first column.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR BALANCE SHEET

Figures used to compile the balance sheet are taken from the previous and current balance sheet as well as the current income statement. The income statement is usually attached to the balance sheet. The following text covers the essential elements of the balance sheet.

At the top of the page fill in the legal name of the business, the type of statement and the day, month and year.

Assets

List anything of value that is owned or legally due the business. Total assets include all net values. These are the amounts derived when you subtract depreciation and amortization from the original costs of acquiring the assets.

Current Assets

- Cash -- List cash and resources that can be converted into cash within 12 months of the date of the balance sheet (or during one established cycle of operation). Include money on hand and demand deposits in the bank, e.g., checking accounts and regular savings accounts.

- Petty cash -- If your business has a fund for small miscellaneous expenditures, include the total here.

- Accounts receivable -- The amounts due from customers in payment for merchandise or services.

- Inventory -- Includes raw materials on hand, work in progress and all finished goods, either manufactured or purchased for resale.

- Short-term investments -- Also called temporary investments or marketable securities, these include interest- or dividend-yielding holdings expected to be converted into cash within a year. List stocks and bonds, certificates of deposit and time-deposit savings accounts at either their costs or market value, whichever is less.

- Prepaid expenses -- Goods, benefits or services a business buys or rents in advance. Examples are office supplies, insurance protection and floor space.

Long-term Investments

Also called long-term assets, these are holdings the business intends to keep for at least a year and that typically yield interest or dividends. Included are stocks, bonds and savings accounts earmarked for special purposes.

Fixed Assets

Also called plant and equipment. Includes all resources a business owns or acquires for use in operations and not intended for resale. Fixed assets may be leased. Depending on the leasing arrangements, both the value and the liability of the leased property may need to be listed on the balance sheet.

- Land -- List original purchase price without allowances for market value.

- Buildings

- Improvements

- Equipment

- Furniture

- Automobile/vehicles

Liabilities

Current Liabilities

List all debts, monetary obligations and claims payable within 12 months or within one cycle of operation. Typically they include the following:

- Accounts payable -- Amounts owed to suppliers for goods and services purchased in connection with business operations.

- Notes payable -- The balance of principal due to pay off short-term debt for borrowed funds. Also includes the current amount due of total balance on notes whose terms exceed 12 months.

- Interest payable -- Any accrued fees due for use of both short-and long-term borrowed capital and credit extended to the business.

- Taxes payable -- Amounts estimated by an accountant to have been incurred during the accounting period.

- Payroll accrual -- Salaries and wages
Long-term Liabilities

Notes payable -- List notes, contract payments or mortgage payments due over a period exceeding 12 months or one cycle of operation. They are listed by outstanding balance less the current position due.

Net worth

Also called owner's equity, net worth is the claim of the owner(s) on the assets of the business. In a proprietorship or partnership, equity is each owner's original investment plus any earnings after withdrawals.

Total Liabilities and Net Worth

The sum of these two amounts must always match that for total assets.
